

USAi Lighting, LittleOnes Downlights

USAi Lighting LittleOnes provides integrators a “big thing in a small package.”

The 1-inch aperture downlights come as a product series that can be installed in a variety of environments such as homes, offices and public space. They deliver a high level of lighting without the glare and distracting forms of traditional products, producing over 1,000 lumens of light.

Other benefits, as provided by the company include complete coverage with uniform vertical light that spans from ceiling to floor, as well as smooth, flicker-free dimming down to 0.1%. Aimable spotlighting allows the lights to highlight specific elements in a room, and an array of customizable shapes and trims styles help the lights integrate into a variety of ceiling and architectural styles.
